

PANDEMIC PLANNING FOR BRT CONSTRUCTION SERVICES LTD.

BRT as an Essential Service approach the current situation and these are some best practices and thoughts collected from many in the industry related to how we maintain business continuity despite the situation.

Your Health and Protecting Others.

If you are exhibiting flu-like symptoms such as fever, coughing or congestion: Do not come to work.

- Contact your Foreman to let them know that you are exhibiting the symptoms; and
- Consult with AHS '811' / a healthcare professional on next steps before returning to work.

Jobsite Sanitation Measures:

- Only one driver per vehicle or sanitize between drivers. All employee`s that do not have an assigned BRT company vehicle are to use their personal vehicle to and from the job site.
- Site toolbox meetings to be held outside, with appropriate physical distancing. No signatures or transfer of documents. Site Supervisor/Foreman signs on their behalf.
- Use only your own tools when ever possible or sanitize between operators.
- At breaks maintain physical distance: easy reference two arm lengths (1 metre).
- Eat lunch alone, where possible in your vehicle, respecting physical distance.

We must work together to ensure job sites remain open. Strong leadership to fully comply with government mandates is imperative.

BRT is known as a safety conscious and diligent community of professionals and as we work through this situation we will learn, continuously improve and take our capabilities to new heights as we serve our customers our and the communities that we are part of.
